Administrative Training.

The Training for Administrators course provides its participants with the ability to plan and manage their security system. This three or four day course covers the configuration, programming, operation and management of the Integrated Security System Software. As well, the DelcoSecurity Training Team is factory-certified to provide training on many different subsystems (e.g., CCTV, Door Control, Intercom, Elevator Control). Upon completion of this course, the participant will have a thorough understanding of the Monitoring and Control Application, Access Control, System Management functions, Photobadge Design & Capture & Management, CCTV Configuration and Management Reporting.

Operator Training

The Training for Operators course is a subset of the Administrators course. This _ day course is intended for personnel responsible for alarm monitoring and control at their facility and covers the elements of alarm handling and response, control of input and output devices and location of card users. Upon completion of this course, the participant will have a thorough understanding of the Monitoring and Control Application and how to use the Integrated Security System Software to respond to security and safety-related activities

Installation, Maintenance & Service Training

The Hardware Installation course describes the function of all DelcoSecurity hardware devices and related peripherals. This two-day course is intended for technical personnel responsible for the installation and maintenance of the hardware and related devices. Upon completion of the Hardware Installation course, the participant will have received hands-on training, as well as testing & troubleshooting procedures.
